The Two Homes Organiser

When parents separate and no longer live in the same house it can be difficult to work out how you can continue to parent together, but separately.

The Two Homes Organiser is here to help!

Designed specifically to take the stress out of managing your child's routines and activities, the Two Homes Organiser helps separated and divorced parents to manage their parenting arrangements, limit emotional dialogue and provides all parties with the opportunity to be fully informed in relation to the child. Highlights include:

Organise: Keep track of your child's schedules, routines and events with ease.

Design: Develop, share and discuss proposed parenting arrangements with the other parent and professional advisors.

Share: Easily access and share important information that every parent needs to keep track of such as medical information, contact information for the child's friends and daily routines.

Talk: Safely communicate with anyone attached to your family organiser. An ideal communication method to reduce stress and anxiety when relationships are difficult.

The image displays two screenshots of the Two Homes Organiser web application. The left screenshot shows a calendar view for September 2009 with a pop-up for a 'Programme Start' event on 14/09/09. The right screenshot shows a 'Welcome' page with a 'My Birthday' notification for Rebecca Jackson on 11/10/2008, a 'Requests for change' section, and a 'Upcoming events' list including 'Dancing', 'Reading Group', and 'Dancing'.

"The two homes organiser is a fantastic tool. It helped us get organised and communicate better. Since using it there's a lot less stress, confusion and conflict". Lizzy, mother of 2 and stepmother of 1.

"The Two Homes Organiser has helped me feel more connected to my kids. It's given me a simple way to stay in touch and informed about everything to do with the kids". John, father of 3.
